

VERY SHOWY

There's a line of Ladies' Shoes just come in that we're going to sell at $2.69.

They are very stylish, showy and really look like $3.50 shoes.

SCHANK & SPENCER, 410 SPRUCE STREET.

CITY NOTES.

There will be a special meeting of the board of health at their rooms in the municipal building this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The members of Circle B, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, are earnestly requested to attend the meeting to-day, as there is business of importance to come before the circle.

John Murray, the man who caused the arrest of Alderman John P. Kelly at the charge of extortion was himself held under $200 bail for perjury proffered by Alderman Kelly at a hearing before Alderman Howe yesterday evening.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company will pay its employees at the Cayuga and Brabant mines and the employees at the station today.

The following answers to advertisers are waiting to be called for in The Tribune business office.

Joseph Murray, the man arrested on suspicion of the theft of cheap jewelry, six razors and a pair of clippers, is still at the police station.

If you are looking for Monday bargains, you will miss it if you don't visit our stores, for Dress Goods, Ladies' Coats, Caps, Suits and Skirts, Men's, women's and children's Underwear, Blankets and Comforters.

MISS ATEN SUES ROBERT SHERWIN

Asks Five Thousand Dollars Damages for Breach of Promise.

HE NOW RESIDES AT PATERSON

Papers were served upon him Thursday and he was arrested and placed in jail in default of bail.

Miss Esther M. Aten, better known to her friends as Miss Hetty, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Aten, of 285 Edna avenue, has begun a breach of promise action against Robert Sherwin, of Paterson, N. J.

The young woman is a blonde and decidedly pretty. When seen yesterday by a Tribune reporter she stated emphatically her intention of carrying the suit to its bitter end.

She has retained Vosburg & Dawson, on Thursday, Nov. 4, the young man was arrested in Paterson and gave security in the sum of $500 before Supreme court Commissioner Robert L. Hopper in that city.

Young Sherwin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sherwin, of 602 East Market street. He was employed for several years as a drug clerk in Charles Henwood's pharmacy, North Scranton.

Meanwhile, during the time succeeding the proposal, Mr. Sherwin went to Philadelphia and took a course in the University of Pennsylvania pharmacy department.

Some time last fall, a position was offered Mr. Sherwin at Loveland's pharmacy, in Paterson, N. J., which he accepted.

After he returned to Paterson no word came from him and about Sept. 10, Miss Aten and her daughter went there and saw him again.

They BOTHED HIM. "This," said Mrs. Aten, "was just what he said to us, and he also told us he did not want us to come to the drug store and bother him."

The mother and daughter returned home and after consulting the matter in all its phases, Miss Aten consulted Attorneys Vosburg & Dawson and a suit was commenced.

THEY BOTHERED HIM. "This," said Mrs. Aten, "was just what he said to us, and he also told us he did not want us to come to the drug store and bother him."

ACCIDENT AT THE VON STORCH MINE

Coroner and a Jury are Inquiring into the Cause of It.

TESTIMONY HEARD LAST NIGHT

It Was to the Effect That Thomas Hill Was Not a Fire Boss but a Watchman--A Theory That the Men Could Have Saved Their Lives If They Closed Tully's Gate--Witnesses Who Testified--Inquest Will Be Resumed Tonight.

The coroner's jury impaneled to investigate the Von Storch mine disaster, by which six men lost their lives last Saturday, met in the arbitration room of the courthouse last night.

Another matter hinted at very strongly last night in the questions to witnesses was the belief that some one deliberately set the mine afire. Here is a sample question:

"Do you think a miner's lamp could have set it afire?" "No, sir."

"Now, understand me, I don't mean the spark from a lamp, but if the flame itself was applied could the mine be fired?"

"Oh, yes, sir." "That was the way outside Foreman Charles Zeigler presented his idea through Mine Inspector Henry Owen Fryther, the questioner.

Maps showing the workings of the mine were displayed. Promptly at 8 o'clock Coroner S. P. Longstreet called the first witness, Edward Simpkins.

"An interested party, Coroner, can I ask this man a question?" "He was told that he could not. He pressed his point, but was finally silenced.

Simpkins, in continuing his story, said that at one time he was within 150 feet of the place where the men were working. He shouted to them but received no answer.

"What, then, is your idea as to how the fire started?" "I haven't any," was the answer.

"If a fire was smoldering at the head of the light bridge could you have detected it?" "I was positive there was no fire at 8:30 o'clock."

WAS NO OIL THERE. Coroner Longstreet asked Simpkins whether there was any oil at the light bridge and was told there was not, save what dropped from the oil boxes of the cars.

THE OTHER WITNESSES LAST NIGHT were: Division Superintendent Finlay Ross, Patrick Murphy, fire boss; Outside Foreman Charles Zeigler, Inside Foreman Harry Birbeck and Joseph Yankowski.
